

Kirkby and Travers Put Out in Tite Golf Tourney—Time Allowance Again Beats Vanitie

'Ned' Sawyer To Face White In Final Round

Medalist Defeats Champion, While ex-Titeholder Loses to Nassau Star

By Ray McCarthy

When New Sawyer, the Swaney star golfer, and Gardner White, of the Nassau Club, finish their battle today for the golf supremacy of the metropolitan district, one of the greatest title tournaments ever held will have ended. These two by virtue of their wonderful play yesterday won the right to meet in the final round.

Travers, who had defeated Kirkby, the playing through champion, in the morning round, after a gruelling tussle by 1 up, and then eliminated W. Parker Seely, the former Connecticut State champion, in the semi-final by 4 and 4. White, after the toughest kind of opposition from young Frank Dyer, of the Upper Montclair Club, won the semi-final by 2 up, and then defeated Travers and won in the semi-final round from the former national champion by 4 and 2.

Sawyer had things much his own way in defeating Seely, of Brooklyn. The latter has been playing splendidly, but was off form in the afternoon, and as Sawyer continued to play sound, steady golf, the way Seely's errors proved costly. Going out he was four down and Sawyer picked up one more hole on the in trip, winning on the fourth.

Kirkby's Putting Erratic

Everybody expected something in the way of the title holder and the medalist and when Kirkby and Sawyer started out they were trailed by a large gallery. If Kirkby had been less erratic in his putting there might have been a different tale to relate. Of course, this means that Sawyer wasn't as far on the greens as was Kirkby, but the fact is Kirkby tossed the match by failing to sink putts which left them all even at the turn.

Kirkby won the first two holes in par figures, but Sawyer got a birdie 3 on the third and squared matters by getting a birdie 2 on the fifth. He kept up a sensational work and got another birdie on the sixth while Kirkby was taking 5. Kirkby won the seventh with a par 4 and the eighth and ninth holes were halved, which left them all even at the turn.

Coming in Kirkby won the tenth with a par 4, but dropped the eleventh through failure to get down in two putts. Both got 3 on the twelfth and 4's on the thirteenth. At the fourteenth Kirkby played to perfection and took the lead, which he held until the eleventh hole. Here he was on 10, but took three putts to get down, thus giving Sawyer a chance to get even again. Then on the eighteenth the Jersey star did the same thing, while Sawyer was on in two and down in two more to win the match.

Heat Handicaps Travers

Jerry Travers, after his hard journey in the morning against Dyer, was hardly in shape to tackle White in the afternoon. The high humidity, which made just plain ambulating a severe task yesterday, sapped the strength of the contestants, so that in this respect White had an advantage over the game little Jerry.

Jerry also lost out through failure to sink several easy putts. The Travers of old, enjoying his usual vigor and dash, would never have slipped in this manner. Jerry's drives, though shorter than White's, were as a rule good, and his short game was fairly well played. He did poorly on several of the greens, whereas White made some beautiful ones from the rough, in fact every time he got in trouble White generally managed to get out unscathed. His game for the most part was sound and steady and on points he did much the better work.

In spite of this Travers would probably have stood an excellent chance except for his wretched start. He lost the first hole by shooting into the rocks. He got into the rough on the second, and lost out, and on the third, after White had made an easy putt,

18-Year-Old Girl Defeats Miss Leitch

SHERINGHAM, England, June 11.—Miss Cecil Leitch lost the British women's golf championship today to an eighteen-year-old girl, Miss Joyce Wethered, of the Worpleston Club. Miss Wethered won by 2 up and 1 to play.

Had Miss Leitch won, she would have celebrated her third consecutive victory for this championship.

Jerry handed the hole back to him by failing to sink a putt on the green. Jerry's harrassing predicament wasn't helped any by a styim on the fourth, which gave Kirkby the hole, so that almost before the match had begun Travers was 4 down. He managed to half the next two holes, but dropped another at the seventh. Here both shot into the rough, Jerry's being the rougher—among the rocks. He shot across the green in coming out and finally took a 6. The ninth he won, which left him 4 down at the turn.

The Upper Montclair star continued to plug along, and after halving the tenth, which he would have won but for a styim, he won the eleventh hole. Then he missed an easy putt. White's putting, too, was quite erratic. The twelfth was halved when Travers again fell down on an easy putt, but the thirteenth went to White when Jerry roomed off the course. The fifteenth was halved and the match ended on the next hole, when White got a 3 to Jerry's 4.

Gardner Loses To Oxford Star On 37th Green

Tolley Wins English Championship After American Makes Wonderful Rally

By Arthur S. Draper

MURFIELD, Scotland, June 11.—No international sporting event could have been more thrilling than the final match this afternoon for the British amateur golf championship, which was won by Cyril Tolley, the Oxford University star, over Robert A. Gardner, of Chicago, on the thirty-seventh green.

Although Gardner equaled par three on the extra hole, Tolley went him one stroke better by driving ten feet short of the cup.

As the strain on the spectators was almost unbearable, it is easy to appreciate the mental agony under which the twenty-one-year-old Briton and the American executed their shots. With four holes to play Gardner was 3 down, but he rallied magnificently. He won the next three holes and halved the thirty-sixth, carrying the match to an extra hole, where he was finally beaten.

By some strange whim of fate Gardner met with great difficulty at the first hole, but he was leading 2-1 and this gave Tolley an appreciable advantage in the first match. For a generation Britons will talk of the heroic struggle of the English youngster against the gallant attack of the invader. The play itself was mediocre, but it was a grand fight, with the honors almost even.

The match was 2 down at the end of the morning round, but he was leading by 2 up at the end of the first half in the afternoon. Gardner showed the effects of the tremendous strain, and his play failed him at several critical moments. Generally the American had the longest drives, but his short game fell off considerably. The fact that the respective cards of Gardner and his rival were 80 and 81 proved conclusively that neither was at top form.

Little fault could be found with Tolley's game, especially in the final stages. At the twenty-fifth green he got over a styim with a beautiful club shot, halving the hole, and he won the twenty-seventh with a brilliant 4.

Resolute Luck Once More Big Factor in Close Win

Adams Outgenerals and Outmaneuvers Nichols for Necessary 57 Sec.

By Jack Lawrence

NEWPORT, R. I., June 11.—Sprinting for the finish line with her club tassel hanging down in her rigging in a tangled wreck, the Resolute turned the tables on the Vanitie here this afternoon by winning the sixth official elimination trial by 57 seconds, corrected time.

The bronze flyer crossed the line first by four seconds in to-day's race, but was defeated by the time allowance of 1 minute and 42 seconds conceded to her Herreshoff rival. This is the fourth elimination race in which the Vanitie has finished first only to be beaten out by her handicap. Luckily for the Resolute the accident to her club tassel occurred only a short distance from the finish line and she was able to cling to the flying Vanitie long enough to be saved.

The corrected time for to-day's race:

Resolute 3:50.13
Vanitie 3:51.10

The result of to-day's elimination race gives the Resolute four victories to the Vanitie's one. Another race will be sailed to-morrow, and will be a triangular affair over a thirty-mile course.

Yachting sharps—and Newport is full of them just now—agree that but for two incidents in to-day's contest the Vanitie would have won with enough time to overcome her handicap. One incident was due mostly to luck and the weather while the other can be attributed to the superiority of Charles Francis Adams, the sailing master over Commodore George Nichols.

This superiority, which has time and again saved the Herreshoff boat from defeat in these trials, was brought about by the play to-day during the jockeying for the start and gave the Resolute a lead of 41 seconds over her remarkable maneuvering on the part of Adams undoubtedly clinched the victory for him.

There is some possibility that even this handicap, overwhelming when considered in connection with the time allowance she conceded, would have been overcome by the Vanitie in the event permit her to snatch victory by a few seconds, if both boats had not wandered more than two miles off their course in the haze of the return run of fifteen miles down the bay.

When they finally sighted the Xarifa and Brenton's Reef Lightship the Resolute found herself nearer the mark by several hundred yards, and also in the better position for the reach to the finishing line. It looked for a moment as though she would actually cross the line first, but by a fine burst of speed the Vanitie went over in the lead by four seconds.

While the yachts were beating for the outer mark the wind freshened and was blowing about fifteen knots out of the southwest when they came about for the run home under spinnakers and balloon jibs. During the second leg a smoky haze settled over the water, and it was this that caused both skippers to miss the true course. They also encountered a heavy tide setting northwest at the outer mark, and this carried them over toward Point Judith.
